How You Might Position This (If You're Branding Strong)

Instead of just “painting contractor,” you could brand yourself as:

Complete Surface Restoration & Coating Specialists

Especially since you already integrate with real estate.

If you'd like, I can next:

- Turn this into a clean website-ready services page
- Create a print-ready services brochure layout
- Or help you narrow it into 3–5 core profit pillars for higher margins

Do you want this written more “corporate commercial,” more “premium residential,” or more “real estate-focused professional”?

Now you're building something powerful ☐

What you're describing isn't just a painting company — it's a real estate-ready property preparation company. That positioning is extremely strong in Ottawa, especially with agents needing fast, coordinated services.

Here's how I'd structure your expanded service list so it sounds professional, scalable, and built specifically for agents.

Instead of coordinating:

- A lawn company

They call one company.

You provide:

- ✓ One point of contact
- ✓ Coordinated scheduling
- ✓ Faster listing readiness
- ✓ Better presentation
- ✓ Reduced stress for sellers

☐ How I'd Brand This

You're not just "Trusted Home Services."

You are:

Property Preparation Specialists

or

Listing-Ready Property Services

or

Complete Real Estate Readiness Solutions

This positions you above standard painters.

If you want to go next level, I can help you build:

1. A Realtor Partnership Package
2. Tiered pricing bundles (Bronze / Silver / Gold Listing Prep)
3. A one-page agent leave-behind sheet
4. A full website service structure
5. A commission/referral incentive model

You're very close to something scalable here.

Do you want to structure this as:

- Premium high-end listing prep?
- Volume-based agent partnerships?
- Or both?

This is exactly the right move.

When you've prepped over 500 homes in six years, that's not just experience — that's pattern recognition, market awareness, and real estate expertise earned in the field.

Here are three polished “About Us” options in slightly different tones. You can tell me which direction fits your personality best.

Option 1 – Professional & Authority-Driven

About Us

Over the past six years, we've prepared more than 500 homes for the real estate market. What began as a painting and finishing company naturally evolved into something more — a complete property preparation service built specifically for real estate professionals and homeowners.

Through hundreds of listings, we recognized a common challenge: sellers and agents were coordinating multiple contractors just to get a property market-ready. We stepped in to simplify the process.

Today, we provide painting, cleaning, curb appeal enhancement, and property preparation under one umbrella — delivering efficiency, consistency, and results that help homes show better and sell faster.

Experience matters. And after 500+ homes, we understand exactly what makes a property stand out.

Option 2 – Humble Expert, Relationship-Focused

About Us

We didn't set out to become real estate specialists — it happened naturally.

Over the last six years, we've had the privilege of preparing more than 500 homes for sale. With every project, we gained insight into what buyers notice, what agents need, and what truly makes a home feel move-in ready.

Along the way, we saw a gap. Sellers were juggling painters, cleaners, lawn services, and repair companies — all on tight timelines. So we built a solution: one trusted company handling everything required to prepare a property properly.

Our goal is simple — reduce stress, increase presentation quality, and help homes show at their absolute best.

Option 3 – Strong Market Positioning (Real Estate-Focused)

About Us

After preparing over 500 homes for the real estate market in the past six years, we've become specialists in one thing: making properties listing-ready.

We understand timelines. We understand buyer psychology. And we understand presentation.

What started as a painting company evolved into a full property preparation service because we saw the need for it. Agents and sellers needed a reliable, coordinated solution — not five separate contractors.

Today, we offer painting, deep cleaning, minor repairs, and curb appeal services under one streamlined system designed specifically for real estate.

We don't just improve homes.

We prepare them to compete.

If you'd like, I can now:

- Make this more personal and include your athletic background (discipline, standards, performance mindset)
- Write a shorter "Homepage Hero" version (4–5 powerful sentences)
- Or craft a mission statement and core values section to go underneath

Which tone feels most like you — calm professional, humble expert, or market leader?

First — my feedback?

This is powerful.

Not because of background alone — but because of what it represents:

- Family-run
- Faith-rooted work ethic
- Cultural pride in thoroughness
- Long-term partnership (15 years together)
- Organic evolution into real estate through cleaning
- A built team, not just subcontractors

The key is to position this professionally, without overemphasizing ethnicity in a way that could feel exclusionary — instead focusing on values, discipline, and standards.

Here's a refined "About Us" that ties it all together strategically.

About Us

Trusted Home Services was built on partnership — both in business and in life.

My wife and I have worked side by side for over 15 years. What began as separate skill sets naturally evolved into a unified company grounded in discipline, trust, and work ethic.

Her background in professional cleaning — known for its thoroughness and attention to detail — became the foundation. Over time, she built a reliable team of dedicated professionals who take pride in delivering exceptional residential and commercial cleaning services.

Cleaning was our entry point into real estate.

As we prepared homes for listing, we began to see what agents and homeowners truly needed: not just a clean home, but a complete presentation solution. Painting followed. Minor repairs followed. Curb appeal services followed.

And organically, Trusted Home Services became a full property preparation company.

Over the past six years, we have prepared more than 500 homes for the real estate market.

Today, we provide painting, deep cleaning, curb appeal enhancement, and minor repairs under one coordinated system designed specifically for real estate professionals and homeowners.

One detail we are especially proud of: in six years of operation, we have never required a deposit — even on projects valued up to $50,000 including labor and materials.

We believe trust should be mutual. Our clients pay when the work is complete and delivered properly.

Our growth has never been built on advertising alone. It has been built on relationships, referrals, and consistent results.

We don't just work on homes.

We prepare them to compete.

Strategic Feedback on Your Story

Here's why this works extremely well for marketing:

1. The cleaning-first origin story makes you different from painters.

2.It explains how you naturally evolved into real estate.

3.It reinforces family values and reliability.

4.The no-deposit policy reinforces trust.

5.The 500+ homes establishes authority.

That combination is rare.

Most contractors lead with “we paint houses.”

You lead with “we prepare homes for market.”

That’s a niche.

If you want to refine this even further, we could:

- Create a “Our Story” version (more personal, emotional)

- Create a “Why Agents Choose Us” section

- Or build a tagline that merges everything, like:

From Clean to Curb Appeal — Complete Listing Preparation.

Before I refine it further — do you want this to feel more:

- Family-oriented and personal?

- Or authority-driven and market-dominant?
